

Written 6-18-26 by N Mroczek PhD

This graph belongs to an article called "Ban Golf Courses & Swimming Pools, Not Data Centers" written by Unleash Prosperity in which avid proponents attempt to show that data centers are harmless water users

<https://committeetounleashprosperity.com/hotlines/ban-golf-courses-and-swimmingpools-not-data-centers/>

My answer is as follows: the higher water consumers are F O O D - duh we need food
we do not need data ctrs
they are an abomination as for lawns they often have restriction of water use & it would be ok with me to make it permanent pools are ok for enjoyment, SERVE THE PPL, & the time can very well come when the water will be too precious for them

WATER IS ALREADY TOO PRECIOUS & IN JEOPARDY IN PLACES

& sacre dieu, using farmland for centers!!!!!! - TRAVESTY, SIN

You can't see it, but some day not too far away we will need every bit of arable land --- for F O O D greed is good

we also need trees, nature, natural land, for our own sensibility - thank you for despair-inspiring ugliness & further ecological demise all the cement expanse is not good for ecology - you would not care about that - it's not M O N E Y ai is making us complete servants & serfs of tech - right down to forcing it down our throats i hope u get to live by a center so you can b inspired by the aesthetics (you likely will not b/c the communities you live in wil not have it) & sleep/live well through the persistent hum now inflicted on hapless citizens who got data ctrs put in behind their backs no votes - b/c you know what that would mean some communities are reporting brown h2o from faucets some have been told the electricity available is now for the center & ppl must find electricity elsewhere

I like the dust some generate & the toll on the atmosphere for the manufacture of all the cement and the centers light up the night sky like a stadium gaming event (we live on a diurnal time clock; & so do most animals who are trying to live too) – OUTRAGE what happens to the property values of the hapless sucker saps bedeviled by data centers of which they were never made aware were to be built - until - too late! - hey, property values now could be zero.

DATA CENTERS ARE ABHORRENT

i also like the way many now into data ctrs previously wanted only 'clean' fuel but easily did an about-face to 'dirty' fuel

HOW DARE YOU IMPACT PPL'S LIVES OUT OF THE BLUE, BEHIND THEIR BACKS, & WITH A NET EFFECT OF MISERY

further, it's despicable for big brothers to know ever more about us, use our 'data', & have the power & control

shame on u

reading your article has angered & sickened me I feel u would not get at all how or why - or care there is such a thing, a very important thing, known as QUALITY OF LIFE (no, it's not $)